At the Global Aquaculture Alliance (GAA), our vision is a world that embraces and enables the role of responsibly farmed seafood in meeting global nutrition needs. For over 20 years, we have demonstrated our commitment to feeding the world through responsible and sustainable aquaculture.

We do this by providing Membership resources to individuals and businesses working in aquaculture and seafood. We improve production practices through our partnerships with countries, communities and companies, as well as online learning and groundbreaking journalism that boasts active readership in every country of the world.

DID YOU KNOW?
By 2030, 60% of all the fish we eat will come from aquaculture. We need your help in ensuring the safety and sustainability of this farmed seafood. Your Membership helps remote areas of the world improve their farming practices with our tools.

GAA’s Membership base are individuals, businesses, non-profits, and associations that are leaders in improving the practices and perceptions of aquaculture.

WHY CHOOSE BAP SEAFOOD?

- BAP standards cover the entire aquaculture supply chain, which includes the processing plant, farm, hatchery and feed mill.
- The BAP label assures you that the seafood was produced in a way that is respectful of the workers, animals and environment.
- 100% compliance to our standards is required to become certified.
- It’s traceable: Use the BAP number on the package to find out where your seafood came from!
- You’re supporting rural communities around the world.
- It’s endorsed by retailers and foodservice operators globally.
- It’s good for you!

Tell us why you choose BAP seafood on social media by tagging us and using the hashtag #BAPcertified! Remember to look for the blue BAP label!

Best Aquaculture Practices (BAP) is the world’s most trusted, comprehensive and proven third-party aquaculture certification program. We’ve been improving the environmental, social and economic performance of the aquaculture supply chain since 2002.
